

More about Live for Lou

Louie's death in 2014 was shocking to friends, family and community members, and perpetuated many of the addiction issues faced by Cape Cod families. It became essential to tell Louie's story and the impact on his family through philanthropy and community education. We continue to innovatively determine the best ways our giving can impact the people on Cape Cod, and their families, who need support through the difficult and often underfunded process of sobriety. We thank YOU for supporting our mission.

Additionally, we wanted to remember Louie's legacy; he was caring and compassionate, and led life with a heartfelt conviction. We feel it important to live every day for Louie, and have determined three giving initiatives central to our mission.

- Beauty—WellFleet Memorial Garden;
- Compassion—Since 2014, LFL has given over $80,000 to non-profits on Cape Cod fighting the local drug epidemic (ex. Gosnold, CDP's Canal House, Calmer Choice, and Outer Cape Health)
- Athleticism—LFL gives annual scholarships to athletes from Nauset Regional High School. Additionally, LFL scholars on the quest for an education that will bring them back to Cape Cod for a career in addiction counseling or therapy; Since 2014 LFL has given over $50,000.

Ways to Give:

We encourage online donations through Cape Cod Foundation at <http://www.capecodfoundation.org>, or by scanning the QR Code. (LFL is an advised fund of The Cape Cod Foundation.)

The story behind the WellFleet Memorial Garden

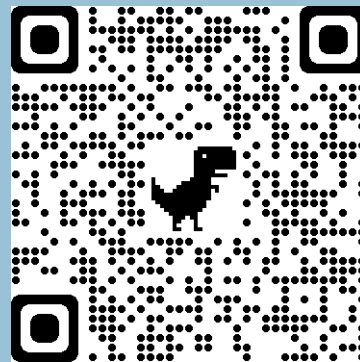

Since the inception of Live for Lou in 2014, it has been a goal of the committee to create a memorial garden and contemplative space to remember those lost too soon, including Louie.

We decided that 'beauty' would be one of three pillars around which LFL is centered (others include compassion and athleticism). Louie took pride in gardening and was becoming more interested in horticulture around the time of his passing in 2014. The idea for the garden grew from Louie's desire to beautify his surroundings in tandem with the Live for Lou Committee's recognition of young lives lost on Cape Cod.

The Live for Lou Fund proudly maintains the WellFleet Memorial Garden, a beautiful oasis where our community comes together to remember those gone from us but forever in our hearts. To donate the Live for Lou non-profit's educational scholarships and addiction awareness grants, or to help maintain the garden, please scan our QR Code.

Do you have someone in your life that you would like to honor in the WellFleet Memorial Garden.
